

How to use colors to tell a different story

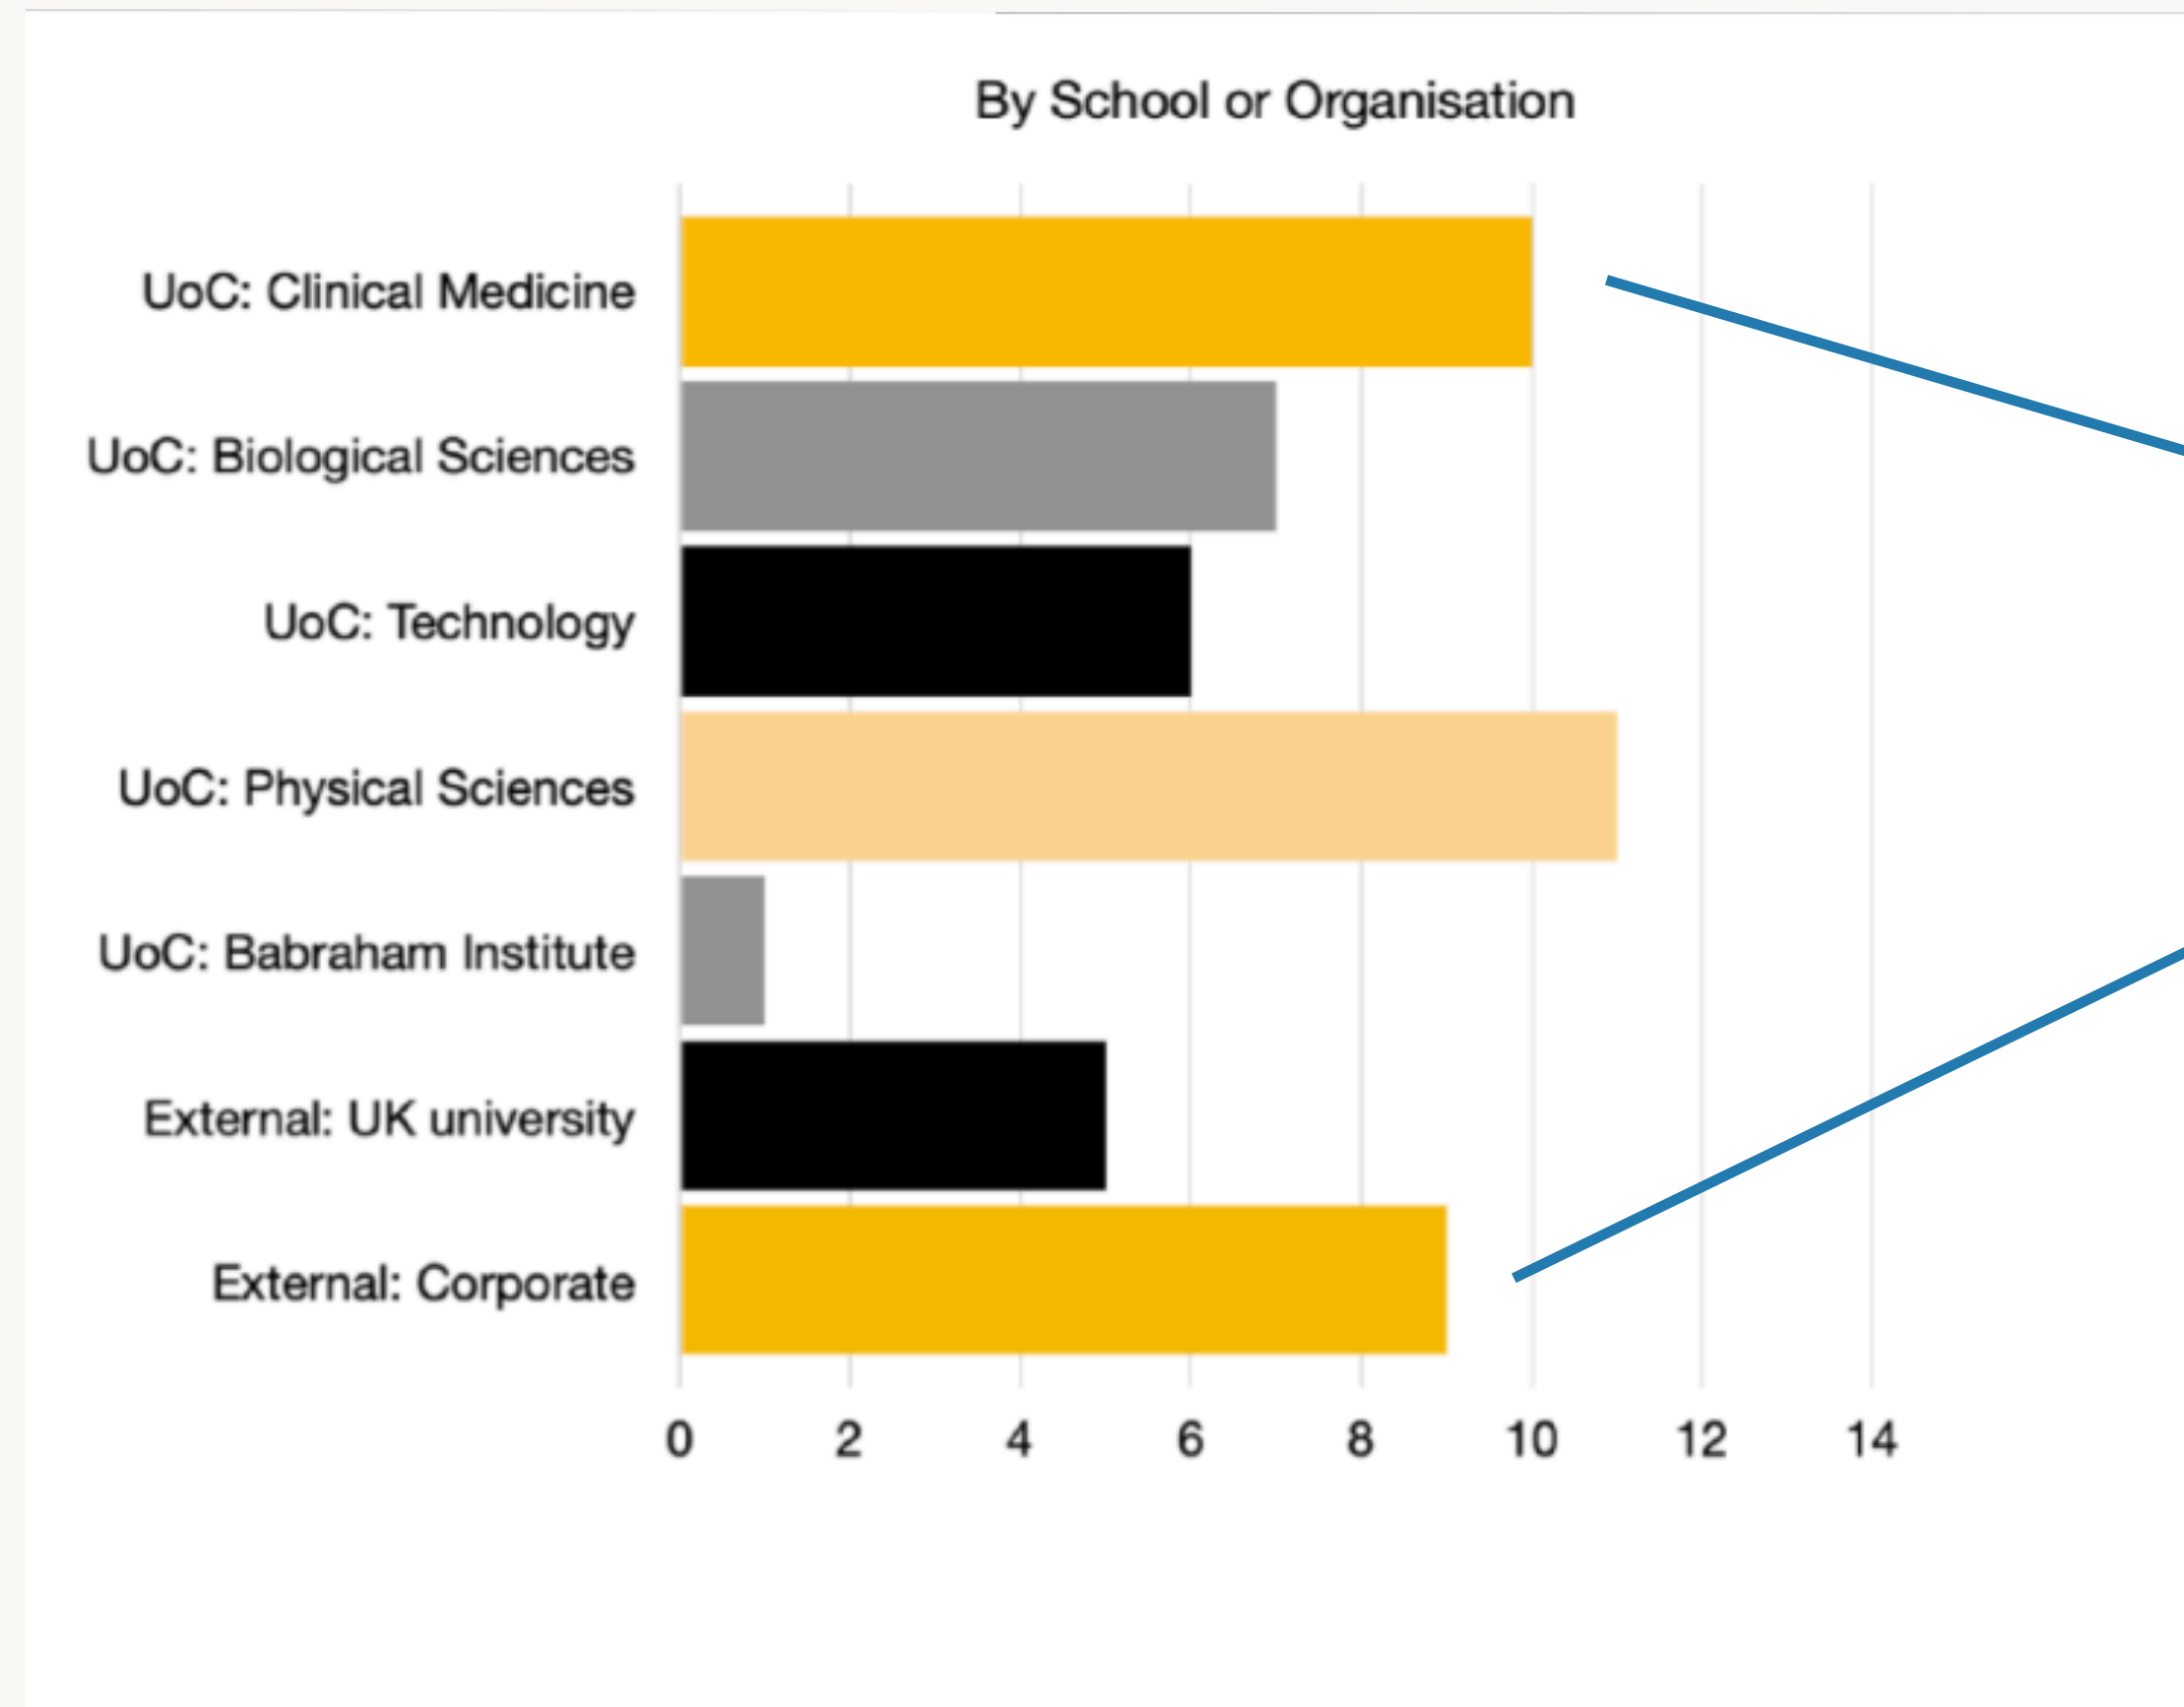

Same colour, different categories

A diagram consisting of two blue arrows originating from the left side of the frame and pointing towards a blue-outlined box on the right. The box contains the text 'Same colour, different categories'.

How to use colours to tell a different story

Same colour, different categories

How to use colours to highlight findings

The top three students categories come from physical science, clinical medicine and corporate.

